WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY

On June 5, the Celesta Students' Union, together with the faculty, celebrated World Environment Day with great enthusiasm and a sense of responsibility. The day began with a brief gathering that emphasized the significance of protecting and nurturing our environment. As part of the program, the Students' Union gifted saplings to the faculty members, symbolizing growth, sustainability, and care for future generations. The teachers, in turn, planted the saplings across the campus, making the initiative both meaningful and memorable. The event highlighted the importance of small but consistent steps towards preserving nature and reducing the effects of climate change. It also encouraged students to become more mindful of their daily choices and their impact on the planet. Overall, the celebration served as a reminder of the collective duty to work together for a greener, cleaner, and healthier tomorrow.
